Happiness as a Habit (Shawn Anchor; NMSS) <https://www.nationalmssociety.org/Resources-Support/Library-Education-Programs/Everyday-Matters/Happiness-As-A-Habit>

5 Habits To Improve Happiness:

- The 3 Gratitudes – Write down three new things you are grateful for each day for 21 days. Be specific and no repeats (i.e., new things every day).
- The Doubler – For two minutes a day (for 21 days again), write down all the details of something positive and meaningful that happened the day before. The theory is that by “reliving” the experience, you get double the pleasure and happiness.
- The Fun Fifteen – 15 mindful minutes every day of fun physical activity.
- The Ripple Effect – Consciously add three smiles a day, preferably smile at someone else. (When we see someone else smile it makes us smile, so we double the effects of smiling when we smile at someone else.)
- Charge Your Battery – Reconnect to your social support network daily, even if only for a few minutes. For the next 21 days, take two minutes every morning to write a positive note (compliment, praise, thanks) to someone living, from your present or past life. Reaching out to people you know, even if they aren't in your close social network, helps to strengthen and expand your social support network. (Social connectedness is the best predictor of happiness and many positive health outcomes.)
